Validation of Railway Interlocking Systems

Railway Signalling and Interlocking Systems

- International railway signaling specifies the notion of overlap.
- Interlocking System is responsible for preventing conflicting movement of trains on a railway yard.

Can be compiled into a verifyable yard specific formal property, such as:
Signal S1 should not be green when there is a train on the route between S2 and S3.